

Angelidou Antigoni

Ioanna Antigoni Angelidou was born on the 14th of October 1994 in Cologne, Germany. She grew up bilingual in Athens and graduated from the German School of Athens (Deutsche Schule Athen, DSA) in 2013. Her native languages are Greek and German and she is fluent in English. She completed her bachelor studies in Speech and Language Therapy from 2014 to 2018 at the University of Cologne. Subsequently, she continued with postgraduate studies in Rehabilitation Science, specializing on Gerontology and Hearing impairment (Thesis: Elderly Deaf people with dementia - The experiences of close caregivers). From 2018 to 2022 she worked as a Speech and Language Therapist on a full and part-time basis. Since 2022 she is an active member of the research team of the Aging Research Network at the University of Heidelberg and participates in the European Erasmus+ project GECONEU- Genetic Counselling in European Universities: The case of neurodegenerative diseases.

