

Nóra Balázs

I graduated from the Faculty of Medicine of Semmelweis University, Budapest, Hungary in 2016. I started neurology residency in the Department of Neurology of Semmelweis University and got the specialty license in 2021. In addition to clinical activity, I am also actively involved in research. My main areas of interest are the neurodegenerative diseases. In the last five years I have five publications in the field. In 2022, I obtained PhD degree at the Szentágotthai Doctoral School of Neuroscience, Semmelweis University.
