

Despoina Dagkonaki

Despoina Dagkonaki is a graduate of the Department of Psychology of Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, whilst she recently completed her postgraduate studies in Neuroscience and Neurodegenerative Diseases at Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. As an undergraduate student, she was an intern at the Greek Association of Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders in Thessaloniki, an experience which contributed substantially to her future academic direction. Her interest in the field of neurodegenerative diseases started from that period, and continues to this day, after her academic specialization on the subject. Her main purpose is to contribute, both in practice and in research, to the prevention and treatment of neurodegenerative diseases, and to the widespread awareness of these diseases.
