

Paschalis Devranis

I am a medical resident at the 1st Department of Neurology in the University General Hospital of Thessaloniki AHEPA and a PhD candidate at the Faculty of Medicine in the Department of Neurosciences of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (AUTH) with the study subject of nutrition and the prevention of dementia. I graduated from the Department of Medicine of the Hellenic Military Academy of Combat Support Officers (HMACSO) and the AUTH, as well as from the Department of Business Administration (BA) of the Athens University of Economics and Business (AUEB), with postgraduate studies at "European Societies and European Integration" of the Department of Sociology of the University of the Aegean. I participate as a volunteer and scientific collaborator in the Greek Association of Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders, where, among other things, I organized a group of volunteers to collect food items combating food insecurity.

