

Aikaterini Katsiana

Aikaterini Katsiana is an Assistant Professor in Occupational Therapy at the Department of Occupational Therapy, School of Health Sciences, in University of Western Macedonia, Greece. She is an occupational therapist with specialization in school-based occupational therapy and a PhD holder of the Department of Psychology in Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences, Athens, Greece, specialized in sensory integration, adaptive behavior, and quality of life in children with developmental disabilities (Down syndrome and ASD). She has also taught undergraduate modules and conducted research in Department of Physiotherapy, University of Thessaly. She graduated from the Department of Occupational Therapy, Faculty of Health and Caring Professions, Technological Educational Institute (TEI) of Athens and from the School of Early Childhood Education Department, Faculty of Education, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. Her research, academic and professional work focuses on school –based occupational therapy, sensory integration, quality of life, adaptive behavior, psychological resilience, and burnout. She is co-author of 16 papers publications at international journals with reviewers and has participated in various conferences.

