

Koutsouraki Effrosyni (Euphrosyni)

MD, PhD, Associate Professor of Neurology - Neuroimmunology 1st Department of Neurology, AHEPA University Hospital Aristotle University, Thessaloniki, Greece. Chair of the Out-patient clinic for Multiple Sclerosis patients (since 2003) and for Demented patients (since 2021). Visiting Senior Investigator in the Cyprus Institute of Neurology and Genetic. Visiting Professor in the Frederick University (Nicosia, Cyprus). Visiting Professor in Cyprus School of Molecular Medicine (Nicosia). 1990: Medical Degree. 1996: Doctoral thesis "Neurotransmitters of the mossy fibers of the human cerebellar cortex. An electron microscopy study". 2003: Lecturer of Neurology. 2008: Assistant Professor of Neurology. 2013: Permanent Assistant Professor. 2017: Associate Professor of Neurology-Neuroimmunology. 2007-2017: Head of the Neuroimmunological Laboratory of 1st Department of Neurology. Sabbaticals: 1. Laboratory of Neuropathology, Eppendorf Hospital, Hamburg, Germany, 1996 (6 months), 2. Laboratory of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, Pasteur Research Institute, 2010 (3 months), 3. Institute of Neurology and Genetics, Nicosia, 2016 to 2017 (10 months)

