

Kyriazidou Sotiria

She received a degree in Psychology from the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki in 2010 and accomplished her postgraduate studies in the 3-year program “Clinical Neuropsychology”, in the Department of Medicine at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, in 2013. She participated in researches regarding language disorders after stroke and Parkinson’s Disease. She worked in the Municipality of Lemnos, where she started a “Dementia Counseling Center” with the collaboration of Hellenic Healthy Cities Network, completing – for the same purpose - her internship in the Day Care Centre of Alzheimer Hellas "Saint Helen", in Thessaloniki. She trained on The Integrated Healthcare System Long Lasting Memories Care (LLM Care), Medical Physics & Digital Innovation Lab, School of Medicine Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. She has clinical and professional experience as a neuropsychologist and psychotherapist too. Since October of 2021 she works in the Day Care Center for Patients with Dementia, Department of Neurology, University Hospital of Alexandroupolis.

