

Lazarou Ioulietta

Dr Ioulietta Lazarou (F) received her BSc from the School of Psychology, an MSc in “Medical Research and Methodology” from the School of Medicine, an MSc in “Complex Systems and Networks” from the School of Mathematics. She holds a PhD in Neuroscience from the Medical School of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (AUTH). She has been working as a clinical research associate in the management and execution of several European and national research projects (Dem@Care, MAMEM, RADAR-AD, Trials@Home etc) and the authoring of competitive proposals for research grants. Her research interests include the neuropsychological assessment of people with cognitive and associate disorders, development of cognitive rehabilitation strategies, clinical trials, brain signal analysis of people with neurodegenerative diseases, assistive technologies and remote monitoring of people with dementia and other diseases. She is a member of the Greek Alzheimer's Association and Related Disorders (GAARDR) and the Scientific Committee of the Greek Federation of Alzheimer's Disease and has co-authored over 30 publications in peer-reviewed journals and conferences.