

Poptsi Eleni

Mrs Eleni Poptsi, is a psychologist, senior researcher on issues of Dementia and Mild Cognitive Impairment. She is an expert in neuropsychological assessment and works at the Greek Association of Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders (GAADR), since 2005. She is responsible for the design and implementation of cognitive training programs and other non-pharmacological interventions for people with Alzheimer's disease and Mild Cognitive Impairment. She is also an external collaborator of Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. She has participated as a speaker in seminars in the field of neurocognitive disorders for health professionals, students and general public. Furthermore, she has attended a number of seminars and conferences in the field of mental health. She received her Diploma degree from the Department of Psychology of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki and her MSc degree in Social Psychiatry from the School of Medicine, of the Democritus University of Thrace. She is PhD candidate at Department of Psychology of Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. Moreover, she is Board Member of the Panhellenic Institute of Neurodegenerative Diseases (P.I.N.Dis). She is also member of the Scientific Committee of the Panhellenic Federation of Alzheimer's Disease. Her clinical and research interests concern neuropsychological assessment and cognitive training therapies.

