

Varadinis Dimitrios

He is a lawyer at the Supreme Court, holder of a master's degree with specialization in Public International Law and a Doctorate from the Department of International Studies of the Law School of Aristotle University of Thessaloniki since October 2021. He has been actively engaged in the protection of fundamental rights and freedoms of vulnerable population groups. He has having participated as a researcher in research projects in collaboration with the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, the National School of Public Health (ESDY), the University of Nicosia, as well as with other foreign academic institutions and civil society actors, he has written studies and scientific articles, and has participated as a speaker in scientific conferences and workshops in Greece and abroad. He has been practicing martial law since 2005; he has been an associate at law firms in Athens and Thessaloniki, dealing mainly with Civil Law, Alien Status Law and Private International Law cases. He is as a scientific associate at the Law Faculty of the University of Sunderland

