

Any Axelerad

Dr. Any Axelerad is the head of the Neurology Clinic of the Emergency County Clinical Hospital "St. Andrew" in Constanta and of the Neurology Clinical Department of the Faculty of Medicine of the "Ovidius" University of Constanta, acting as Associate Professor. Her professional career started at the aforementioned hospital in 1996 and continues to this day and it is worth mentioning that she inaugurated in 2016 the center for mounting device-assisted therapy for patients diagnosed with advanced Parkinson's disease. Her professional training has been complemented all these years by attending dozens of scientific sessions, conferences and national and international medical congresses. Her publishing activity is proof of academic constancy, having published as follows: 17 books, 8 of them as main author and 9 as co-author, more than 30 articles in ISI Web of Science indexed journals, 9 abstracts published in ISI Web of Science journals in extenso with impact factor, 8 papers in ISI Web of Science indexed journals without impact factor, 64 papers in extenso and in abstract in internationally recognized journals or in journals in the country recognized by CNCSIS/BDI, 31 papers in national journals and 90 papers with abstract in volumes of national or international scientific events.

