

Beratis Ion

Dr. Ion N. Beratis is an Assistant Professor of Psychology and Chair of the Institutional Review Board at the American College of Greece. He is also the external supervisor of the Alzheimer's Center of the Psychogeriatric Association "Nestor". He holds a Psychology Degree from the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, an MSc in Neuropsychology from the University of Edinburgh, and a PhD in Neuropsychology from the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. He completed clinical training in cognitive psychotherapy through the Hellenic Association of Cognitive Psychotherapies. Dr. Beratis has conducted research at the American College of Greece, the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, the University of Patras, and the University Mental Health Research Institute of Athens. His work is published in international journals and presented at scientific conferences. He has received several awards and has served as a reviewer for international journals in the field of Neuropsychology. Additionally, he is a founding member of the Hellenic Neuropsychological Society and a member of the Hellenic Society of Cognitive Psychotherapies

