

Georgiadis Theodosis

Graduated from the Occupational Therapy School of A/TEI Athens.

During his studies he was trained in Alzheimer's disease in order to continue his studies at postgraduate level at the Medical School of Thessaloniki and get a specialty in neurodegenerative diseases. Since 2020, he has been working with special education schools for primary and secondary education, providing occupational therapy sessions to students with developmental disorders and other disabilities, as well as counseling their parents. At the beginning of his career, he worked as an Occupational Therapist in rehabilitation centers in the area of Thessaloniki dealing with neurological disorders and as external collaborator in occupational therapy centers for children and adolescents with neurodevelopmental disorders. He has written and published articles in scientific journals on the topic of occupational therapy in elderly people. He has also announcements at international conferences. He is married to Dafni Eleftheriadou and has two children, Eleni and Vassilis.

